"TAKEN FROM THE ENEMY."

The following is a translation of part of a speech delivered in Switzerland. November, 1876, by M. Edw. Favre-Perret. the chief Commissioner in the Swiss department and member of the International Jury on watches at the Centennial Exhibition at Philadelphia, and is worthy the attention of every good American.

"Gentlemen, here is what I have seen. I asked from the manager of the Waltham Company a watch of a certain quality. He opened before me a big chest. I picked out a watch at random and fixed it to my chain. The manager asked me to leave the watch with them for three or four days that they might regulate it. On the contrary, I said to him, I want to keep it just as it is to get an exact idea of your workmanship. On arriving at Locle I showed this watch to one of our first adjusters who took it apart. At the end of several days he came to me and said literally: 'I am astonished; the result is incredible. You do not find a watch to compare with that in 50,000 of our make.' This watch, I repeat to you, gentlemen, I myself took offhand from a large number, as I have said. One can understand by this example how it is that an American watch should be preferred to a Swiss watch."

The watch movement M. Edw. Favre-Perret picked out at random was a "RIVERSIDE," and all that he said of it then, and a good deal more, is true to-day.

Do not be misled or persuaded into paying more for a Swiss watch which is not so good as a "WALTHAM."

agers that the present session will be unsually short for the first of a Congress. It is not intended by the republican leadinnecessarily, and the conditions promise to be favorable to the speedy transaction of such business as is intended to be disposed of. The present manner in which the House has taken hold and will dispose of course contemplated with respect to all legislation mapped out for this session.

While many matters of great importance demand the attention of this Congress, present plans contemplate only the initiation of legislation with respect to most of

The Isthmian Canal.

The progress of the investigation ordered by the last Congress of the several proposed routes for an interoceanic canal is ot such as to render possible legislation on ent at the last Congress that a majority of both houses was favorable to legislation at that time for the construction of the Nica-raguan canal, but it was sidetracked by clever manipulation, and the authorization of a commission to examine into the merits of all routes proposed appears to have ef-fectively blocked legislation for this ses-sion.

fectively blocked legislation for this session.

Conditions are not such as to warrant any comprehensive legislation at this session with reference to the Philippine Islands. If it is deemed desirable for Congress to take any action whatever at this time as to the Philippines it will probably be in the nature of a simple resolution extending the power of the President in such manner as may be needed to enable him to restore order on the islands. Even this may not be deemed necessary if to attempt it would be to open up the whole controversy in Congress.

With these two vexing questions post-poned much of the time-consuming conten-tion of the session may be avoided. Government of the Colony.

It is not anticipated that there will be much real opposition of the sort that leads to a prolonged fight over the legislation necessary to extend proper civil govern-ment by the United States over Hawaii ment by the United States over Hawaii and Porto Rico. The President having taken the attitude he has with reference to the freedom of trade with those possessions and the United States ports the opposition in some quarters, based entirely on local interest, to the extension of our revenue laws to Porto Rico will probably not be at all effective. Any measure having remote reference to the new possessions will undoubtedly be made the basis and excuse for a great deal of political harangueing by the minority on the subject of "imperialism," but there promises to be little real opposition to the legislation which will be proposed.

Subsidies for Ships.

The most troublesome question is likely to be that with reference to ship subsidy, promote American commerce; and erence to the construction of a Pacific e. The hostility which exists in Const to ship subsidy is of a most bitter determined character and not entirely isan. Those opposed to the Hanname proposition will likely fight it in y way they know how and with perney; so that it is not impossible that may be one of the measures that will over to another session. The fight next the construction of a Pacific cable be made with the knowledge on the of those opposed to it that the cable become a commercial necessity. The sixtion will be a part of the general stance of every step of progress of this rement in the Philippines and the it, the objection to the cable being it would bring us closer to the Philipses, which the anti-imperfalists desire lid remain remote and inaccessible to hould remain remote and inaccessible to he authority of this government.

ON DUTY IN PHILIPPINES.

The Star is in receipt of a communica-tion from Sergeant Patrick Doudall of Bat-tery E, 6th United States Artillery, now on duty in the Philippines, from which the following extracts are taken:
"MANILA, P. I., November 3, 1899.

"We are doing police duty in Manila at present. Our service is not the worst in the world, considering what others are doing.
The rainy season is over tow, and, I think, we will get a chance to distinguish ourselves. The boys are all anxious to do ome fighting before returning home "Life in the Philippines is a trifle monotonous, so far as we are concerned. Our daily routine is get up in the morning at 5:30; mess, at 6; drill, 7 to 8; guard mount at 9 o'clock, and lay ground the quarters all day. Sometimes we take a trip about the city, and sometimes row about the bay to see the boats and at evening we take a waik over to the Liunata to hear the band play a few old familiar tunes, which remind us of home. At 8:20 p.m. everybody has to be in off the streets or produce a pass signed by a general officer.

"Speaking of our regiment doing police duty, I do not mean the whole outfit, for our two light batteries have done a considerable lot of work. L Battery was turned into a light battery last week.

"The first two days out on the trip across the ocean the waves came all over the decks and made us very uncomfortable, but the rest of the way to Honolulu was a pleasant one. We had a nice voyage all the way to Manila from Honolulu.

"Some of the people here are very treacherous. They would sneak up on a man at night and cut him to pieces if they could. Some of them are very good hearted and will give an Americano anything. The only fun we have here is to go over on the Llunata on Sunday afternoon and see a game of base bail among the solders. The natives go wild over the game. We are all contented with this place for the time being. We have only a little over a year to serve yet. It is my opinion that when the war is over the Americans will make a nice place of this.

"The greatest curlosity here is the walled city. There is a wall thirty-five feet wide all around it. It is not very healthy in there, as you can imagine. There is an old Spanish arsenal within the walls full of old guns and ammunition of all types and makes. The greatest feature here among our fighting men is the Macabebe scouts. "And whereas the want of lawyers in this country, and the little information these new subjects have of the laws of Spain may render their faithful observance very difficult, which would be entirely contrary to the intention of his majesty, we have thought it useful, and even necessary, to cause an abstract of these laws to be formed, in order to serve for the instruction of the public, and as elementary rules for the administration of justice, and municipal government of the city, until the knowledge of the Snanish language can be introduced. government of the city, until the knowledge of the Spanish language can be introduced, and thereby afford to every one, by the reading of these laws, the means of extending their information in that matter, and therefore, and under the good pleasure of his majesty, we do order and command that all judges, cabildoes and their officers, do comply punctually with that which is prescribed in the following articles. Why should you go through agony every month when you can be free from it? Doctors often tell women that "female troubles" will wear off, but Mrs. Parker's experience don't agree with that. #### VOLUNTEER WORKERS.

Meeting of Those Interested Methods of Associated Charities. Those Interested in A meeting was held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock of volutieer workers and others central office of the society, 811 G street northwest. About thirty persons were present, principally ladies. Dr. Fred H. Wines, assistant director of the census, talked to those present about the spirit and inspiration of the modern movement in charity work. He gave it as his conclusion after thirty years of experience in dealing with the unfortunate, that nothing but the power of love, exerted through personal ouch, was effective in reforming and up lifting humanity. He explained how mere inting humanity. He explained how mere material relief, such as coal and groceries, while it may tide a family over a temporary crists, will never serve to permanently improve the condition of the family. He said the trouble with the poor was not their poverty, but their ignorance of the laws of life; that they were unable to properly adjust themselves to their surroundings, and what they needed was instruction more than relief. Such instruction could be given and helpful uplifting influence exerted only through actual personal ence exerted only through actual personal contact, and hence the importance of the work of the volunteer visitors of the Associated Charities. Two of the District agents of the associa tion were present and explained some what in detail, the circumstances connecte with particular families with which the what in detail, the circumstances connected with particular families with which they had been called upon to deal. The cases related showed in many instances how the families had been permanently helped and bettered by personal influence and instruction, and, on the other hand, they showed how thoughtless and indiscriminate charity had pauperized families.

The general secretary briefly outlined the work of the association. Among other things he suggested that the volunteers could call upon the society to investigate unknown applicants before granting relief; that they could talk to their friends about the work of the society; could bring church circles into co-operation with the society; could support the society financially; some could read to the blind in their homes; others could collect savings in the homes of the poor, etc.

The meeting was then thrown open and questions asked and answered, a general informal conference being had in reference to the best methods of charity work. Several persons who were present volunteered to undertake special lines of work under the direction of the society.
